Subject: Child support

Please before making any changes to the already broken system 1st take time out to correct the current system.

1. Update the % the custodial parent gets.
2. Have the Friend of the courts support increased for questions.
3. Encourage time by both parents

In 16 years I have had to take time off work to get down to find out I would have to make an appointment that would be 6 months later.

As a custodial parent I needed the support then, instead I accepted what I had and watched my child suffer from "NO" emotional or financial support from her Father. Single parents just get tired of fighting a lost cause.

Please, before you make changes really look at what is in place now and make it better for "The children" NOT "The parents"

Thanks,

Robin Pokoyoway
